

Note. This drawing, shows the geometric constructions behind the male human form of the Oktia. The process starts with a square, then a golden section rectangle is constructed to create the line at A (233), followed by a double square rectangle to create the line at B, and then the line at C (110). To complete the process, the vertical line at D is constructed.